Pack for Travel

Like a Pro!

Packing is a chore but with these tips, you will know how to pack efficiently and also understand why some luggage goes missing and how to prevent it happening to you!

Did You Know?

85% of all lost luggage is found within 48 hours.

On average airlines lose 3000 bags per hour or 3 bags per flight. A total of around 30 million bags per year.

Over 10,000 laptop bags are reported lost every week at U.S. airports, while 65% of those are never reclaimed.

Out of approximately 2.5 billion pieces of checked-in luggage world-wide in 2014, it's estimated that around 30 million pieces were mis-handled. Around 10 bags per 1,000 were mis-handled in Europe alone.

An expandable 26in (66cm) case is ideal for two weeks.

If two or more people are travelling, split belongings between checked-in luggage so if one case goes missing, you both will still have a change of clothes.

Fill an old Febreze spray bottle and spray on creased clothes after you arrive at your destination; hang them and the creases will be gone and you will be left with a fresh smelling piece of clothing.

Choose a colour theme for your clothes and base everything around that colour; you will then be able to mix and match outfits and inevitably pack lighter.

Segment your stuff into clear zip lock bags. Also include a spare empty one for dirty laundry.

Use Clingfilm to secure messy liquids in case of spills.

Place a fabric conditioner sheet into your luggage to keep it smelling fresh.

Reasons Your Luggage Goes Missing

The Routing Label Gets Damaged

This will make it very difficult for baggage handlers to know where to direct your luggage.

You Forget to Pick Up Your Luggage

Might sound silly but distractions do happen!

The Airline Employee Types in the Incorrect Destination Code on Your Label

They make mistakes too.

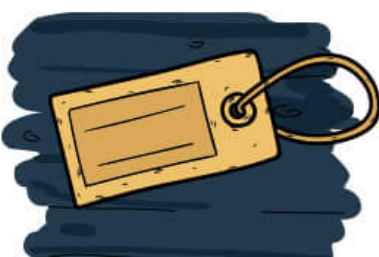

Your Bag Gets Loaded Onto the Incorrect Plane

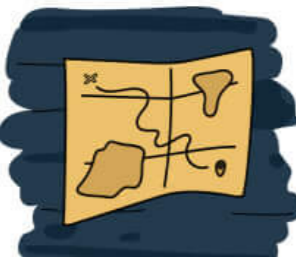

Human error once again.

Keeping Your Luggage Secure

Ensure to add your contact details including phone number all over your luggage.

Place a copy of your itinerary into your luggage so airline staff can find you should they fail to contact you otherwise.

Photograph or video your final luggage i.e. what you packed. This will be especially useful if your bag never shows up.

Take off any removable straps from your luggage to prevent it snagging anywhere in transit.

Arrive on time to ensure your bag makes it onto the plane.

Add some distinguishable item like a multi coloured piece of material to your luggage to ensure no one takes it by accident.

Designer luggage may look well but it might also attract a thief so be wary.

Keep valuables in your hand luggage.
